Current homeownership levels are substantially lower in redlined (D-Rated) areas
A-Rated ("best")

B-Rated ("still desirable")

C-Rated ("definitely declining")

D-Rated ("hazardous")

Pct Homeownership

0%   100%

Current poverty is concentrated primarily in C and D rated zones, while Queens has relatively low poverty rates among the outer boroughs

A-Rated ("best")

B-Rated("still desirable")

C-Rated ("definitely declining")

D-Rated ("hazardous")

Pct Poverty

0%   50%

A-Rated zones are currently almost exclusively occupied with white residents

A-Rated ("best")

B-Rated ("still desirable")
C-Rated ("definitely declining")

D-Rated ("hazardous")

Pct Nonwhite

0%   100%

Current home values vary within redline grades, with valuable homes concentrated in A-Rated zones

A-Rated ("best")

B-Rated ("still desirable")

C-Rated ("definitely declining")

D-Rated ("hazardous")

Median Homevalue

$0 $2.0M

The proportion of homeowners with a mortgage is consistently high across all redline zones

A-Rated ("best")

B-Rated ("still desirable")

C-Rated ("definitely declining")

D-Rated ("hazardous")

Pct Mortgage

0%   100%